Is the review 100 words in total? (besides basic information above)

Is the review well written? (Without spoilers?)

Does the review give a basic overview of the plot of the story?

Does the review tell readers enough about the book to potentially engage other readers?

Is the review overly critical? It is important to be honest if a reviewer did not enjoy a book, but the review needs to be gentle and constructive, not harshly critical or overly negative. If so, please discuss with your student. If they wish to amend their review, you might have some suggestions to help them.

How many stars (out of 5) were given to this book?
